WIVES FAIL TO PRESS CHARGES

Mrs. Dutcher, Who Said Her Husband Choked Her, Did Not Appear in Police Court Today and Mrs. Peter Dugan Withdrew Charge against Her Husband.

William Dutcher of Phoenicia was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Sergeant Hanley on a warrant obtained by Dutcher's wife, Mrs. Grace Dutcher of No. 224 Wall street, charging her husband with assault in the third degree in choking her when he met her on the street.
This morning in police court Mrs. Dutcher failed to appear to press the charge and her husband was discharged. It was brought out that the Dutchers have separated and the trouble arose over the children.
Mr. Dutcher, accompanied by his lawyer, County Attorney John W. Eckert, left police court to attend a session of children's court at the court house where Dutcher has begun an action to recover the children on the grounds that his wife is not a proper person to look after them.
Peter J. Dugan, arrested by his wife and turned over to Officer Welch several days ago, was also discharged in police court this morning when his wife withdrew the charge of assault in the third degree. PROPOSE SEIZURE OF WET LINERS

Dry Officials Plan Causes Agitation Among Diplomats But Treasury Department

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, June 28.—A sudden proposal originating with prohibition officials that foreign ships bringing liquor into American ports should be seized and the captains arrested, caused considerable agitation in diplomatic circles here today and threatened to stir up a row between the state and treasury departments.
It was announced officially at the treasury department, however, that seizures are not contemplated and that such a step is not being given serious consideration.
Secretary of State Hughes was besieged with inquiries from diplomats of countries whose ships would be affected by such action. His responses to such questions were that the government has made no decision beyond the pending order to seize liquors which are brought in above a quantity required for medicinal use.
Secretary Hughes previously had conferred with acting Secretary of the Treasury Gilbert. Gilbert informed Hughes the treasury department had not altered the policy of Secretary Mellon in any way. Gilbert did inform the secretary that the treasury is worried by the continued arrival of additional ships with beverage liquor from Europe, because it has added to the burdens of the government's force at New York. There was comment that some "suggestion" could properly be made to the foreign ship lines or in addition to the foreign governments under which such ships operate, to discontinue the practice of transporting beverage liquors into American waters.
Treasury officials denied that the government seriously considers seizures will be necessary, as assurances already have been received both at the treasury and state departments that after the voyages of the ships now enroute to New York, and the "test cases" are recorded, no further liquors will be transported.
High treasury officials referred to reports of an abrupt change in the government's attitude as clearly "inspired." These reports, it was said, were circulated in order that certain foreign shipping interest might be impressed with the fact that the government would not like to see foreign ships persist in their practice of bringing over liquors.
While there seemed to be no question of the legal authority to seize foreign ships violating the prohibition law, officials declared there is no present purpose to take such an "extreme construction" of the law as a guide in dealing with the foreign vessels. It was again emphasized that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon repeatedly declared, after conference with the state department that such seizures would be "absurd" and wholly unwarranted in the present situation. Despite "gestures" now being made, it is said by officials that the government will not find it necessary to resort to use of its full power to stop the foreign ships with liquors.

NEWBURGH THINKS OUR SCHOOL TAX RATE LOW

The Newburgh News says editorially:
With $228,000 to raise for school purposes in Kingston for the year ending on July 31, 1924, the rate of taxation is $11.40 per thousand. This is not a high rate, compared with that in many a township, specially districts suburban to cities. There are districts near Newburgh which have rates 100 per cent higher. Even at that, they furnish no advanced work for pupils, as the cities do. It would be a benefit alike to the city and to suburban districts if there were a union of interests and facilities in education. The suburban pupils would fare better, and taxes would be lower.

MINE CONSPIRACY CASE KILLED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Indianapolis, Ind., June 28.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty moved to nol-pros indictments against 127 coal operators and mine workers officials and 99 corporations charged with conspiracy to control prices and limit the production of coal, in federal court here today.
The motion was sustained by Judge Albert B. Anderson, after a statement had been read by Daugherty, reviewing the case.
"A careful investigation strongly supports the protest of the defendants that many of the things complained of by the government under the Sherman act," Daugherty said, "were in no small measure due to the efforts of those who were government officials during the war to bring about more intensive cooperation between operators, miners and railroads in the production, allotment and transportation of coal."
Lack of evidence was assigned as the reason for the motion, the final phase of the famous proceedings brought under the Sherman anti-trust law and the Lever act in the last year of the administration of the department of justice by A. Mitchell Palmer.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL CRIPPLED CHILDREN IN ULSTER COUNTY

Advice and Treatment For All at Free Clinic Here July 11 and 12 With Vocational Training Where Possible—Arranged by Rotary Club.

The Kingston Rotary Club has arranged through its committee on crippled children for a free clinic to be held on July 11 and 12 at which experts from the State Department of Health will examine any crippled children that attend. The state has for some time been holding free clinics for infantile paralysis victims with excellent results, but in the opinion of the Rotarians there are children whose crippled condition is not due to that disease who are just as much in need of advice and treatment. It is for the assistance of these children that the clinic is to be held, although infantile paralysis victims will also be received.
Any crippled child in Ulster county is free to come to the clinic, and any physician is at liberty to bring or send cases that have come to his attention. Experience has shown that many cases are curable or can at least be improved and the child trained to some vocation that will make it self-supporting and an asset instead of a liability to the community.
It is intended to coordinate the results of the clinic with the state's bureau for vocational training of cripples, whereby a trade is taught and the pupil is supported by the state while learning to become self-supporting.

BROTHER BACON'S BREAKFAST

"Grunt, grunt," said Brother Bacon, "I do enjoy my breakfast and that's the truth."

"Squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham, "I do enjoy my breakfast too and that is also the truth."

"Grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky Pig, "breakfast is a most delightful meal."

"Squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pink Pig. "Squeal, squeal, I really love breakfast."

"Some creatures," said Master Pink Pig, "say that it is not right to speak of loving food, but I do not think they appreciate food when they speak that way."

"They can't if they say such things," said Pinky Pig, "for love is so beautiful a thing and so beautiful a thing should not be wasted on anything ordinary.

"Love should be given to food."

"Yes," said Sir Percival Pork, "I believe in being generous in giving my love to food."

"And so do I," said Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"Ah, what a pleasant sound has the word food," said Sammy Sausage. "I can think now of all sorts of good things to eat."

"The only thing," said Miss Ham, "is that I enjoy my dinner and supper as well as my breakfast. All meals to me are wonderful."

"So they are to me, grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky.

"And so they are to me, squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pink Pig. "I love all meals."

"I do, too, grunt, grunt," said Master Pink Pig.

"And I agree," said Pinky Pig.

"How nice it is that we all agree," said Sir Percival Pork.

"We agree excellently about that subject at any rate," said Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"We don't always agree about who most deserves food," said Sammy Sausage.

"Well, that is different, squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham.

"Very different, grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky.

"It's something else again," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"Of course it is," said Mrs. Pinky Pig.

"To be sure," said Master Pink Pig.

"Assuredly, grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig.

"True, true," said Sammy Sausage.

"Grunt, grunt, true, true," said Sir Benjamin Bacon. "We agree about the subject of food as being a worthy subject or object of our devotion but as to who deserves the most food—well, we don't agree about that."

"I Do Enjoy My Breakfast."

"We shouldn't agree about that," said Sir Percival Pork. "We wouldn't be natural pigs if we did.

"And above all things we must be natural."

"Not above all things," said Grandfather Porky. "As the oldest representative of the Pig Pen I will not allow such wrong ideas to get about."

"Well, you know I didn't really mean just that," said Sir Percival Pork with a wink of the eye and a twist of his little tail.

"All right," said Grandfather Porky. "We'll forgive you this time."

"But," said Brother Bacon, "I wanted to talk about breakfast. And when I speak of my love for breakfast I do not mean that I do not care for the other meals."

"We didn't think you meant that," said Miss Ham. "For we know how you enjoy your other meals."

"I only meant," said Brother Bacon, "that breakfast would be my next meal and I always think of one meal ahead and look forward to it. I would think of the meals beyond that but I like to pretend that I will just go on having the next meal—on and on and on without any stopping.

"I suppose it is because meals do stop that I feel that way about them. But now I'm thinking of my breakfast which I always enjoy so much.

"And I've made up a poem in honor of my coming breakfast."

So Brother Bacon recited his poem in his best grunting voice and it would have been longer only breakfast arrived before he had finished. This was as much as he recited:

"Breakfast is food and food is sweet,
Goodness me, how I do love to eat!"

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

A man is a gourmet as he is a poet or an artist or simply learned. Taste is a delicate organ, perfectable and worthy of respect like the eye and ear. To be wanting in the sense of taste is to be deprived of an exquisite faculty.—Guy de Maupassant.

GOOD THINGS FOR ANY DAY

As there is a diversity of tastes in almost every family it is necessary that we have variety.

Smoked Salmon Chartreuse.—Boil one and one-fourth cupfuls of rice until tender, add two teaspoonfuls of curry powder creamed with two tablespoonfuls of butter. Make a white sauce of butter, flour and milk, add the two and one-half cupfuls of salmon that has been soaked in warm water to remove the excess of salt, add one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of onion juice, and pepper. Line a buttered bread tin with the rice; pack in the fish mixture, put a layer of rice over the top and steam or bake in a pan of water thirty minutes. Serve with creamed peas.

Summer Soup.—Let stew one hour in a quart of water one generous quart of fresh tomatoes peeled and sliced thin, one cucumber and a clove of garlic. Add salt, one teaspoonful, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper with one tablespoonful of sugar. Strain into the soup tureen and set aside to cool. Add a few pieces of ice and one and one-half cupfuls of thinly sliced cucumbers sprinkled with salt and pepper and vinegar. Let chill in the refrigerator one hour. Just before serving toss into the soup one cupful of croutons which have been sprinkled with tarragon vinegar.

Sponge Drops.—Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, then add one-third of a cupful of powdered sugar, two egg yolks beaten thick and lemon colored, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and one-third of a cupful of flour, flavor to taste. Drop by spoonfuls on baking sheet; sprinkle with powdered sugar before baking.

Pineapple Tapioca.—Cook until clear three tablespoonfuls of minute tapioca in two cupfuls of water; add three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Serve with pineapple juice poured over the tapioca and a spoonful of diced pineapple for a garnish.

MONEY-MADE "LITERATURE."

American committees appointed to award literary prizes have been criticized as exercising favoritism, or of appearing to be influenced by other considerations than that of pure literary merit, but neither in America nor in England has basis for such criticism ever been unearthed even remotely approximating a recent scandal in France, where the prize was given to the literary aspirant who put up the money. There was great astonishment in French literary circles when the Flaubert prize of 40,000 francs, instituted by some unknown benefactor of literature, was awarded to Francois Robichon de la Guerinicre for his novel, "The Spanish Grandee," for when this work was published three years ago it won little or no praise, had no sale and was promptly forgotten. Astonishment became indignation when searching inquiry revealed the fact that the winner, a wealthy, retired manufacturer who took up literature as a diversion, was the "unknown benefactor" who had given the money to establish the Flaubert prize.

No wonder the French literary world is in an uproar, with indignation all the more pronounced in consequence of the fact that, although in its first three years only 100 copies of "The Spanish Grandee" were sold, its sale is now advancing by thousands, even book-sellers in foreign countries sending in hurry orders. In any country a wealthy literary aspirant of no merit can secure publication through a printer-publisher by paying all costs, and can even secure undeserved sales, temporarily at least by expensive advertising; but such a scandal as is now reported was hardly to be expected in France, where criticism and prize awards were supposed to be particularly free from influence other than the purely literary. Fortunately no writer who gets before the public through fraud of any kind can secure more than a temporary vogue. Such a literary "bubble" will be promptly punctured.

THE KLAN IN THE NORTH.

Current dispatches tend to give the impression that the modern Ku Klux Klan finds more favor in the North—barring newspaper comment in the large centers—than in the South. The story of how a large assemblage of citizen-vigilantes at Valdosta, Ga., overawed and dispersed an outdoor Klan gathering is now followed by accounts of the fraternizing of a church congregation and masked Klansmen at Lakewood, N. J., and a pulpit defense at Freeport, L. I. Speaking on the "Constitution and the Flag" at Freeport, the Rev. W. E. Thompson defended the Klan from his pulpit as a worthy organization. At Lakewood, N. J., on June 17, according to the dispatches, 77 masked Klansmen attended the evening service of the first Baptist Church, occupying ten reserved rows in front. Headed by three American flags and the customary fiery cross, the Klan marched to the church "under protection of state and municipal police." Speaking from the pulpit, the Rev. George Pierce welcomed the Klan as "an organization which stands for high American principles." He even offered his platform to a "Grand Titan of the Third Realm of New Jersey," who spoke at length.

There may not be many Northern communities wherein masked Klansmen would be welcomed and defended in the churches and be given the formal "protection of state and municipal police," but there is a steady increase of evidence that the organization is widespread and growing rapidly in that section.

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY.

There is no more time-honored American principle than religious liberty, and the ceremonial dances of the Indians are a recognized part of their religious practices. Yet Commissioner Burke has seen fit to frown on the ceremonial dances of the Pueblo Indians, one of the most peaceable, industrious and intelligent of American aboriginal tribes. The Pueblos have petitioned a rescinding of Commissioner Burke's prohibition and their petition is widely supported. One writer on this subject quotes from a letter written by William Penn in 1683, referring to the religious dances of the Lenni Lenapes 250 years ago, indicating a wise tolerance in a less "advanced" age which Commissioner Burke might do well to reflect upon. One would naturally expect intolerance among the early Colonists, in consequence of the fear that the dances might excite the aborigines to war, rather than from the authorities of today at a time when Indian warfare is at an end. Yet William Penn wrote calmly to England as follows:

The Indians' worship consists of two parts, sacrifice and cantico; their sacrifice is of their first fruits; the first and fattest buck they kill goes to the fire with a mournful ditty from him who performeth the ceremony. The other part is their cantico, performed by round dances, words, songs and shouts; two being in the middle begin, and by singing and drumming on a board direct the chorus. Their postures in the dance are very antic, but all keep measure. This is done with equal earnestness and labor, but great appearance of joy. In the fall, when the corn cometh in, they begin to feast one another. There have been two great festivals already. I was at one myself.

Burroughs Club Nature Notes

Copyright 1921. By HOUGHTON MIFFLIN CO.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. I notice some lions in menageries have very dark manes and some light ones. Are they all the same kind?

2. I saw a small snake last fall that was wood brown on back, with a small straw colored ring back of head; underneath, pale yellow, about six inches long. I should like the name.

3. Do bluebirds lay white eggs? I read that birds that nested in holes laid such eggs.

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Where do cloves grow?

The native home of the evergreen tree, myrtle family, of which cloves are the flower bud, is the Molucca Islands, Dutch East Indies. Flowers and buds are rosy red, both leaves and blossoms fragrant.

2. What sort of an animal is the chinchilla?

A South American rodent, chiefly inhabiting Peru, not unlike a squirrel, and lives in rocky situations of the Andes, in burrows. Native hunters formerly caught it in moderation by snares, but the great salability of its fur has led to dynamiting the burrows, thus destroying young as well as adults, and the species has been terribly reduced.

3. Can you make robins use any sort of nesting box?

Not an enclosed box, such as wrens, bluebirds, etc. adopt gladly. Birds that take to artificial nesting boxes are kinds that use some sort of cavity anyway. Robins, and occasionally phoebes, sometimes like a little bracket or shelf to build upon. Half a cigar box with the outer side left wholly open, and with holes bored in the bottom for drainage, makes a fair shelf. A leaky can of water that will keep the ground damp and supply mud, would perhaps be an added inducement for robins.

The annual Farmers' Field Days are being held at the agricultural experiment stations at Ithaca and Geneva this week.

In general, more emphasis has been placed upon the attendance of the boys and girls than upon the attendance of adults. Hundreds of youngsters who are engaged in junior project work are learning at Ithaca this week at first hand how new things in agriculture are discovered. The boys and girls will not visit Geneva.

All of the county agricultural agents are visiting both stations and are bringing with them many of the members of the county farm bureau committeemen.

Thursday is set aside for the visit at Geneva where the leaders in the farm interests have an opportunity to meet Dr. R. W. Thatcher, who is to have a prominent part in the development of the experimental work in the state, particularly since the amalgamation of the Geneva and Cornell stations has been made effective under a single board of control.

The Geneva station offers opportunity to see progress and results of experiments which are quite different from those at Cornell. This is particularly true in respect to small fruits and to some orchard practices. Furthermore, the dairy herd at Geneva is made up of Jerseys while the dairy herd at Cornell is made up mainly of Holsteins with a portion of Guernsey cattle.

Friday and Saturday the visitors will be at Cornell to see the experimental work and to find out what results Cornell has achieved, particularly in grains and grasses, in poultry and animal husbandry, and in all of the subjects which from the basis of the teaching the extension specialists take to the far parts of the state.

118 FINISH AT GRADE SCHOOLS

Are Presented Diplomas by President Flemming—Superintendent Michael Says None of Buildings Are Fire Traps.

According to Superintendent Michael's recollections, the largest class from the Kingston graded schools to graduate within ten years received diplomas at the high school auditorium on Wednesday afternoon in the presence of proud and congratulating families and friends. When the curtains in front of the platform were drawn they disclosed the large platform completely filled with smiling and happy boys and girls, while gifts of baskets of flowers, bouquets and other presents were much more attractive than any electric footlights.

Superintendent Michael presided at the exercises and announced as the first number on the program, an orchestral selection, "March—America's Best" by Zamencik, played by the Grade Schools' Orchestra, led by Supervisor of Music Spaulding. Merited applause greeted the number.

The first recitation "Going Through High School," by Whitney, a selection full of worth-while advice was given in clean-cut decisive manner by Elsie Kathryn Gleason of School No. 5, calling forth much applause.

This was followed by another recitation, "Abraham Lincoln," by Morgan, given by France H. Brownrigg of School No. 6. The lad's expressive face as well as his thoughtful declamation bespoke an unusual appreciation of Morgan's tribute to Lincoln which held the closest attention of the big audience until they broke into applause.

School No. 7 was next represented by Martha Gold who had a memory-testing recitation in "Kentucky Belle," a delightful southern story by Woolson, which was admirably given and heartily cheered.

Before announcing the next number, an orchestral selection, Superintendent Michael took occasion to tell the audience that while vacation began for the boys and girls of the Grade Schools' Orchestra on Tuesday noon, they were all loyally in their places, playing for the commencement exercises. Furthermore many of the pupils cheerfully gave up the coveted privilege of being seated with their classmates on the platform in order to perform their duty by playing with their fellow musicians. This loyalty and devotion to duty was immeasurably appreciated by the superintendent, by Mr. Spaulding and his assistant, Miss Bergman as well as by the board of education and Mr. Michael was sure it, as well as the music, would be highly appreciated by the audience. He asked, however, that all members of the graduating class in the orchestra stand for a moment, that they might be recognized and further requested them to stand with their respective classes when they were called to receive their diplomas.

Evidently the members of the orchestra were enthused by Superintendent Michael's words for they played the next number, "Rosebuds," by Zamencik even better than the first number, showing a little closer attention to the conductor and a little finer shading and phrasing.

Dorothy Maines of School No. 8, gave excellently a rather difficult recitation, full of admonition, entitled "Use and Abuse of Time," by Brown. There was a pleasing touch of humor in "The Owl Critic," by Fields, which was given with appreciation by Florence Madden of School No. 1.

Folowing a well sung song, "Evening," by Abt, given by the entire graduating class and conducted by Zelda Follette as leader, Marie Mohr of School No. 2 gave with considerable dramatic ability as her recitation, "The Unknown Speaker," author likewise unknown. It was good.

A decidedly humorous recitation, "Hairpins" (author anonymous), was given with pointed emphasis and cleverly by Clara Abramowitz of School No. 3.

This time it wasn't a woman that had the last word, but a young man, Victor F. Spalt of School No. 4, who gave convincingly, although he knew it to be quite too true, as his recitation, "Wanted—A Boy" by Crane.

Before turning this large class over to President Flemming of the Board of Education, Dr. Michael relieved his mind of a burden he had evidently been carrying ever since the expert from Chicago made a survey of our city and the same was published in The Freeman. Calling attention to the size of this year's grades graduating class, and noting that our grade schools are yearly increasing in membership, Superintendent Michael said that if the condition continued the Board of Education would have to be, in some way, increasing the educational facilities of the city. Dr. Michael said the Board of Education did not need to have an expert from Chicago come to tell them that several of the school buildings were old and not as they would like to have them. They knew that, but what about building new school buildings! Were the tax payers ready to hand out the money to build one or more buildings at a cost of $150,000 each? That is a problem that every city in the state is facing today. But as to our school buildings being fire traps, that Superintendent Michael objected to. He knew of no absolutely fire-proof public building in the city, though the high school came mighty near to it. Still it has wooden floors that could burn. But here was Superintendent Michael's point. The high school can be entirely emptied of its student body in one minute and any of the grade schools in one minute and a half at the longest, so that parents need not be nervous about sending their children to school, especially to the high school, even though the taxpayers are not likely to immediately live up to the suggestions of the survey. Superintendent Michael then congratulated the graduates upon their graduation, as it was their entrance upon the threshold of a beautiful temple of life, the inner beauties and mysteries of which they should seek to discover and appreciate by further and still further education. He then presented the class to Mr. Flemming, president of the Board of Education at whose hands they would receive their diplomas.

Mr. Flemming also offered his congratulations to the students graduating, and said he was glad they had made the most that the city of Kingston had so far offered them in the way of educational opportunities, and he hoped that they would further avail themselves of the added opportunities of a high school education which the city of Kingston also offered them. If they all lived up to the first recitation of the afternoon, President Flemming thought there would be nothing left to be desired.

After the presentation of the diplomas the orchestra played a march, "Our Boys," by Zamencik, and the grades commencement of 1923 was ended.

SERUM MAKES THEM TELL TRUTH

Scopolamin May Do Away With Third Degree and Make Administration of Justice More Accurate.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Francisco, Cal., June 28.—The "fourth degree" has arrived.

Noted criminologists who watched demonstrations of the "new truth compelling" drug, scopolamin, in San Quentin prison today agreed that a new factor in criminology has arrived which may throw into the discard the brutal "third degree" and make the physician one of the chief aids to criminal investigators.

In a series of tests conducted by Dr. R. E. House, Ferris, Texas, physician, who after use of scopolamin as a "twilight sleep" producer conceived the idea of its value in criminology, established these things

1. Supplied corroboration of the judgment of a jury in acquitting one man of wife murder.

2. Revealed the identity of a Belgian war hero serving time for auto- [illegible] the man [illegible] applied officers with information that may clear a man serving a life sentence for murder.

4 Revealed many alleged crimes on the part of a convict unknown to officers.

Under the influence of scopolamin the subject loses use of conscious will Dr. House explained to the noted physicians, criminologists and psychologists who followed carefully his experiments. The subject retains memory and answers truthfully any questions put to him. Henry Wilkens, tried for the murder of his wife, voluntarily asked for a test and under the influence of the drug related in even greater detail the story of the holdup in which his wife was killed and convinced August Voltmer, "scientific" police chief at Berkeley that the jury had been right in acquitting him.

At San Quentin prison, the additional tests revealed Eugene O'Leary as the son of Pierre Burns, of Luxembourg, Belgium, five times wounded in the Argonne.

John L. Farr, under the "truth serum" revealed the murder he was serving time for was committed by his partner, and John Johnson, a negro, admitted his guilt of grand larceny and other misdemeanors.

IT IS NEW HEADS FOR OLD ONES IN BRITAIN

Scientists Cut Off Beetles' and Then Graft Others to the Bodies.

Is your head woozy? Would you like a new one? All right, just as easy! All you have got to do is to chose one you like and science will do the rest. How? By cutting yours off and grafting a new one on.

True, science has not gone quite so far as to experiment with human heads, but at a recent meeting of the Royal society in Burlington house, Piccadilly W., London, beetles whose heads had been cut off were shown with other beetles' heads transplanted on them. It was asserted by the scientist in charge that the body of the beetles on being given a change of head would gradually conform to the species, and even of sex, of the decapitated beetle whose head it now wore.

Some of these beetles lived six weeks after their change of heads, and fed and lived normally.

Mystery Submarine to Mount Twelve-Inch Gun; Has Great Speed.

The displacement is greater by more than 1,000 tons than that of any American or German submarine.

The X-1 will mount a 12-inch gun. It will be able to bombard an object at long or short range, and then slip quickly beneath the waves.

With its great speed and gun power, which will surpass anything in its class in the American navy, it will be more than a match for most surface vessels.

Hans tumbled into the creek, which was swollen by the recent rains. Carl peeped over the bank to determine that his playmate had landed in the water and then ran to a point a short distance below where the current cut close to the bank.

He arrived there ahead of Hans, who soon came down the creek, his protruding foot giving the only indication of his presence. Carl grabbed the foot and soon had Hans on dry land, where the neighbors revived him.

Hair Often Ruined by Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store; it is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

DIFFICULT TO REPLACE SILAGE

Farmers Whose Supply Ran Low Couldn't Make Up Lack With Other Feeds, Tester Reports.

The value of silage in successful dairying is shown in a recent report of David Smith, tester for the Inter-County Dairy Improvement Association. He reported that the members of his association who had fed up all their silage this spring were complaining of a marked decrease in milk production which they could not seem to offset by feeding additional grain. Mr. Smith also says that the association records have been of definite value to men who bought and sold cows during the month.

A similar situation in respect to silage was reported by Tester E. D. Fitzgerald, of the Adirondack Association. He said that some of his members were out of both silage and hay, and since they could not always get good clover, a drop in production resulted.

The reports of the testers, most of which were for March, show considerable interest in tuberculosis control. Earl Wakefield, of the Blooming Grove group, for example, said that Pine Lane Farm of Middletown passed the last test with no reactors. George H. Dawes, of the Dryden Association, reported that in one herd ten cows out of twenty reacted. In another herd of fifteen cows, all but three reacted. Another herd passed a clean test.

Carl Aude, of the Monroe Association, is enthusiastic over a campaign against tuberculosis which has just started in his county. "It will be a great thing for the dairymen and the state," he says.

FARM BUREAU POULTRY SCHOOLS

The Farm Bureau is planning to hold two all day poultry judging schools in July under the direction of Prof. L. M. Hurd of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell. The first school will be held at the Stone Ridge Grange Hall on July 19th. The second at New Paltz at the farm of Raymond Du Bois on July 20th. Both schools will start promptly at 10 a. m. (standard time) and will close at 4 p. m. with one hour for lunch. Those attending the schools should bring along a basket lunch. There will be no charge of any kind connected with the school. These schools are primarily for the commercial poultrymen, those who have rather large flocks and who are doing breeding work. The day will be spent in actual judging work of male and female birds from the standpoint of production. The attendance at a school of this character must necessarily be limited and for that reason the Farm Bureau is asking those who desire to attend to send in their names to the Farm Bureau office by July 15th.

Large Family of Baby Bass.

Several evenings ago fishermen who were netting carp from the waters of the Tomhannock Reservoir at Troy, were standing on the dyke watching the signs of the carp working in the grass, when their attention was attracted to a black object about 12 inches in diameter which was moving along slowly in the shallow water. At first the men thought it was a snapping turtle, but upon closer examination they found that it was a hatching of young large mouth bass, whose sizes ranged from ¼ to ½ inch in length. Upon stepping close to the object the men attracted the attention of the adult bass who suddenly appeared and by waving its tail the young hatch was directed away for a short distance, where it halted and the old bass began to swim leisurely about them, seeming to understand that the men would not molest them. The fishermen estimated that the hatch contained thousands of young fish.

Electric Service and the Labor Problem in Industry

American industry to-day is confronted with a serious problem. With restrictions on immigration, growth of business and higher wages, the labor situation is becoming acute. It has slowed up production and increased costs. Factory managers and other power users are finding out that the use of Central Station electric service is a great help in the solution of this problem.

As a matter of fact, electricity has been the most important factor in the development of machinery for taking the place of manual labor. But only a beginning has been made. We are entering upon a new era in which the greater portion of work now done by human hands will be accomplished by electricity through selective control apparatus. This will have the effect of multiplying many times the productive power of the workers; freeing them from drudgery and enabling them to become more efficient and better citizens.

The Central Hudson System of gas and electric companies furnishes a high grade, reliable electric service to practically all the important communities in the Central Hudson Valley. Its power plants, substations and transmission lines have been designed and built with reference to supplying economic power in large quantities to the industries of the Valley.

Senator Byrne Adresses Quarterly Meeting—Cost of State Government Not to Come Down.

The Hudson Valley Federated Chamber of Commerce were the guests of the Saugerties Chamber on Wednesday, June 27, at Koehler's Oak Ledge Park Lodge, Saugerties, for the quarterly meeting of the federation. The grounds and the lodge are most picturesque and the dinner, a real Long Island duck dinner was excellent. The menu souvenirs were donated by A. J. Koehler.

After the dinner the meeting was addressed by Senator W. T. Byrne of Albany, who spoke on the work of the state legislature for the past year. Senator Byrne predicted that the cost of state government or legislature is not going to come down, that to the contrary it is going to increase year by year. The state is progressing, for he stated that the old-fashioned lobby is a bygone and any one with a worth-while bill, et the legislature with them if they play the game straight. The grait game he claimed is dead

The meeting was presided over by the president, Captain Robert Boettger. He kept things lively throughout the meeting by calling on many of the members for short talks on the problems of their own respective communities.

The federation discussed the question of advertising the entire Hudson valley and the matter was referred to the executive committee for them to work out a plan to accomplish this.

BETTER RAILWAY SERVICE FOR FARM

Producers' Associations of Eastern States and Carriers Confer—Free Movement of Supplies Guaranteed Farmers.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ithaca, June 28.—A big step toward more economical production of farm crops in eastern states was taken in a conference held in Cleveland last week between representatives of twelve big railroads and managers of eight cooperative associations which distribute farm supplies in eastern states, according to H. E. Babcock, general manager of the G. L. F. Exchange, who returned today from the conference.

The meeting was called by Howard Selby, chairman of the group of eastern cooperative associations, to talk over with the railroad men the transportation needs of eastern farmers. Present at the meeting were officers and managers of the Eastern States farmers exchange, Springfield, Massachusetts; the G. L. F. exchange, Ithaca, which serves 40,000 farmer shareholders in New York and northern Pennsylvania; the Pennsylvania federation of cooperatives; the Maryland agricultural corporation; the West Virginia cooperative association; and the farm bureau federations of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

It was estimated that the eight cooperatives represented a purchasing power of 25,000 cars. This includes supplies of feed, seed, and fertilizer for the farmers of eastern states. Such a tonnage commands the attention of the railroads, and warrants special service to organized farmers, the cooperative managers pointed out.

Representatives of the railroads were asked to insure a freer movement of feeds and seeds from the midwest and prompt and regular shipments of fertilizer from concentration points in the east. They promised the cooperatives special service on the main connecting arteries from the midwest to farmers in the east.

"The conference was very valuable to the farmers of the east," Mr. Babcock declared, "because its outcome promises them relief from the unsatisfactory transportation conditions of the past which have contributed to the high production costs on our eastern farms. The railroad men promised absolute support and cooperation to work out with the cooperative associations a service, such as is rendered big distributors like the packers, in the movement of solid train loads.

Railroads represented were the New York Central, New Haven and Hartford, Pennsylvania, Erie, Boston and Albany, Nickel Plate, Peoria Belt Line, Canadian Pacific, B. & O., Grand Trunk, Big 4, B. & M.

WARNING AGAINST FIRE BALLOONS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, June 28.—William G. Howard, assistant superintedent of state forests, who is in charge of the conservation commission's forest fire protection service, has sent a warning to all the commission's forest rangers to caution people against the use of unpiloted hot air balloons.

Destructive forest fires have been caused in years past by these balloons dropping in the forest while still alight and the conservation law now prohibits the sending up of such balloons in any fire town or in any town adjacent thereto.

In the newly established fire districts covering over six million acres the same precautions are necessary as in the fire towns and the same warning is being sent to the commission's fire protective force throughout these districts.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, June 27.—Children's Day service was beautifully rendered here in the M. E. Church Sunday evening, June 24. To the pastor, the Rev. Meeker and his efficient coworkers much credit is due and to Mrs. Meeker, who so willingly and helpfully assisted the children in filling their parts, also the decorating the church. The color scheme was pink and green with giant ferns, roses of all kinds and sizes, and peonies. The class song by four young girls—Van Steenburgh, Sickler, Warren and Short—was wonderfully fine. "Roses and Blooming." The smaller girls and boys did equally well. The opening prayer by the Rev. C. A. Ahrens of the Baptist Church so full of thought and good will. The remarks in closing by the Rev. Mr. Meeker, M. E. pastor, who so kindly gave advice to all, went to the hearts of the older church goers as well as the younger set.

12-MILE LIMIT NEGOTIATIONS ON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, June 28.—Foreign office officials revealed today negotiations have been opened between France, England and the United States for the purpose of establishing a 12 mile limit off the United States coast which would be reciprocal for three countries. At the same time it was learned that a movement is on foot here to test the validity of America's liquor seizures from foreign ships in the world court at The Hague instead of in the United States supreme court at Washington.

It was learned at the foreign office that France hopes to receive certain concessions in favor of French steamships retaining liquors on board in American ports if the 12 mile zone is recognized.

(The Washington government in a memorandum to England, France, Italy, Spain and Japan suggested that a 12 mile zone be recognized off the United States coast merely in cases of ships where liquor smuggling was suspected. As regards all other issues the three mile limit, recognized by International law would be effective).

The French government has not yet lodged any protest at Washington against seizures under the American supreme court's "dry ship" decision. Officials said that no such protest would be made unless urgent request was lodged by French lines.

West Indian Women Work Hard.

In the West Indies the women carry enormous loads of bananas, oranges, yams and brown sugar, climbing mountain roads at a steady gait of four miles an hour. These women count a 40-mile walk a mere constitutional. They seem to love their tramp, and gossip along the road with as much enjoyment as many another woman finds in her Saturday night market chat.

South American coffee and cotton planters say the women and children work better than men, though their labor is rewarded with a lower wage. Women barter in fruit, vegetables and dress goods as "desk traders" on the steamships which ply between West Indian islands. In Grenada they act as blacksmiths, shepherds, carpenters and carriers.

MRS. BUZZI IS HEADED FOR CHAIR

Mrs. Anna Buzzi

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 28.—A woman will pay the supreme penalty for murder—death in the electric chair unless the governor intervenes or a new trial is granted.

A jury of men made this decision late last night, when they found Mrs. Anna Buzzi, 36 years old, guilty of slaying Frederick Schneider, wealthy contractor.

Sentence will be pronounced July 9, a sentence the law requires to be "death."

If Mrs. Buzzi goes to the chair she will be the fourth woman in this state to die for a crime. Only one woman has been electrocuted in this state, Mrs. Martha Place, at Sing Sing prison in 1899. Two others were hanged.

During the trial the state charged that Mrs. Buzzi, fearing she was about to lose the love of Schnieder, with whom she had lived as his wife for eight years, shot him.

Gen. H. J. E. Gouraud

When the Germans launched their offensive of July 14, 1918, with which they hoped to win the war, General H. J. E. Gouraud, who has lost his arm in the Gallipoli Peninsula, commanded a French army in the Champagne defensive sector, in France, to which was attached the Forty-second American Rainbow) Division. General Gouraud's intelligence service knew the exact second of the assault, and he had ordered his infantry to fall back, so that his artillery could wipe out the German attackers. The French fell back, as ordered, but the "fightin' fools" of the Forty-second Division forgot how to retreat. Instead, they met the Germans half way and smeared their attack all over the face of France. "Boys, you've ruined my plans of battle!" General Gouraud told their officers, as, with tears in his eyes, he thanked them for their "sublime insubordination." He rushed to General Foch and demanded that more Americans be permitted to enter the fighting line. He was so insistent, Foch threw in other American divisions, and the war ended. Now Gouraud is coming to the United States as the guest of his Rainbow Division and will make a six week's tour of the country.

Shifting Responsibility.

A merchant, unable to sleep, tossed fitfully on his couch and muttered unintelligible words. The wife of his bosom sought the cause of his restlessness. In answer to her inquiries, he said: "You should expect me to sleep when my note to Cohan in the bank comes due tomorrow for $5,000, and there's only $2,000 in the bank to meet it?" "It is?" said the faithful wife. "Then I tell you what you should do, Ike. You should get up and go over to Cohan's house and tell him, and then come back and go to sleep. Let Cohan stay awake."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Mineral Food of Plants.

According to scientists of the Department of Agriculture, the mineral food consumed by plants is of two kinds. Some minerals, such as phosphoric acid, potash, lime and magnesia, are essential to the nourishment of the plant. But plants have also a general appetite for mineral substances, eating freely in addition to the quantity necessary to their proper nutrition. It is said that plants seem to thrive best where their appetite for nonessential mineral food is gratified. Soda is included in this kind of plant food.

MORE LAND FOR NIAGARA RESERVE

Judge Clearwater Calls Commission Together to Consider Use of Money Made Available by Last Legislature—Parking Problem There, Also.

Judge Clearwater has returned from Niagara Falls where he spent the greater part of last week attending the meeting of the State Reservation Commission, of which he is president, a meeting called by him to consider the purchase of additional lands for the enlargement of the reservation.

From the time the judge became the president of the commission eight years ago, he has urged the legislature to appropriate moneys for its enlargement, feeling that the time had arrived when the state should acquire title to the entire strip of land bordering the gorge of the Niagara River between the cataract and Fort Niagara, as it embraces some of the most picturesque natural scenery in this country. The Canadian government several years ago acquired a similar strip upon the Dominion side, and have preserved all its natural features. Successive legislatures listened to the application deferentially, but failed to appropriate the money. With the aid of Governor Smith, however, the last legislature was induced to appropriate $125,000 which it placed at the immediate disposal of the commission.

The judge was amused on his arrival at Niagara to find that the enterprising citizens of that marvelous city had arranged for the expenditure of the money without the formality of consulting the commission. Unfortunately their ideas and those of the commission did not coincide, the commission being of the opinion that the moneys should not be spent with the view of enhancing the value of adjacent property but for the sole purpose of preserving intact the natural beauties of the Niagara Falls.

An additional problem which engaged the attention of the commission was that of the constantly increasing number of visitors who come by automobile. Between the first day of July, 1922, and the first day of June, 1923, over 2,000,000 persons visited the falls, and over 390,000 automobiles crossed the bridge connecting the famous Goat Island which embraces the American falls with that cataract. Many of these automobilists come early in the morning; park their cars and stay until midnight, after which all persons are compelled to leave the island. The reservation does not afford adequate parking place for anything like the number that daily arrive, nor is there adjacent land available which can be purchased for parking purposes. The commission therefore adopted a rule limiting parking to three hours which it was concluded in view of all the conditions would afford ample opportunity for any visitor thoroughly to see all the beauties of the place. The commissioners of the Queen Victoria reservation on the Canadian side of the river prohibit parking within that portion of their reservation from which the falls can be viewed. The American commission, however, felt that was too drastic a regulation notwithstanding that over twenty per cent of visitors come from Canada.

The amount which the last legislature included in the bond bill for the ultimate carrying into effect of the commission's plans is $1,000,000, $125,000 of which as above stated is at once available.

G. A. McKinlock

G. A. McKinlock, rich Harvard student, hero of the World War, in which he died while leading American troops to victory against the Germans, is the spirit sweetheart of Muriel McCormick, daughter of Harold F. McCormick, of Chicago, and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller. Miss McCormick never met McKinlock in life, but she and McKinlock's mother daily visit his grave in Lake Forest, near Chicago, and then "communicate with him through mediums.

Jess Willard

Jess Willard, whose pay bouts are supervised by the boxing commission, have declared Jess Willard, come-back heavyweight, is in excellent physical condition and that there is no reason why he should not be permitted to fight Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine "bull of the pampas," in Jersey City on July 12.

Fred Thompson in two poses

These two photographs are of Fred G. Thompson, held in Chicago on the charge of being the "bandit queen" who murdered Richard O. Tessmer, insurance broker, who tried to save his wife's wedding ring from a hold-up "woman." For fourteen years Thompson has posed as "Mrs. Francis Carrick," wife of a chauffeur. The remarkable part of the dual life is that Thompson himself had a wife, Mrs. Marie Clark, whom he married two years ago. This marriage so angered Carrick, who had "married" Thompson, that a fight resulted, ending in all three living together in a strange compact.

President Harding

President Harding, on his trip to Alaska, stopped at Hutchinson, Kansas, in the heart of the wheat belt, and got back to the soil by running a reaper and binder harvesting machine over the first wheat crop of the season.

CIRCUS PLAYED TO BIG CROWD

The Sells-Floto circus played to an audience Wednesday evening which filled, probably, three-quarters of the seats in the "big top" and without question it was one of the most interesting performances in that line that has visited Kingston in many years. The horses and acrobats were especially admired. The band was amazingly successful in syncronizing its music to the various acts in many cases aiding materially in the effect produced by the thrilling climax.

Not an arrest was reported as the result of the visit of the circus, although there was a vast crowd of people in the uptown section and those visiting the evening performance met the homegoing ball fans leaving the park after the ball game.

The circus made its usual expeditious getaway and this morning was on its way to Schenectady.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Shelby, June 28.—Before leaving for Great Falls early today, Jack Kearns, manager of the world's heavyweight champion, indicated that he would withdraw his man from the Gibbons match July 4, unless the final installment of $100,000 on Dempsey's contract was forthcoming when due.

"Of course," the astute Mr. Kearns qualified, "I cannot anticipate. But I will say this: I can't see sending Dempsey into the ring with the possibility of Gibbons hanging one on his jaw at reduced rates."

The strikers have been most successful in Rhode Island, where service today was still practically at a standstill.

Collector in Hard Luck.

Apropos of Napoleon, a curious footnote to the history of the famous conqueror appeared in a New York paper under the heading "Asks Police to Find Napoleon's Letter." The loser of the letter described it as having been written by Napoleon on August 18, 1805, to the Austrian general, Mack, on the occasion of the latter's defeat. The French emperor, in admiration of the courage displayed by his vanquished opponent, presented him with a handsome gold clock and wrote a letter of appreciation to go with it. The clock passed through various hands after the death of General Mack, and had been bought in Berlin, with the authenticating letter, by an American collector. The collector lost his wallet, containing the letter, while on his way to his home in San Francisco. —The Outlook.

NEVER—LONG WORD

By ROSE MEREDITH

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"WHY not?" demanded Jim Blake, when Dorothy Lane refused to marry him after she had worn his ring for two happy years. "Is there somebody else?"

"No—that is, not exactly," she blushed furiously, "but one's ideas change, Jim—"

"Right," declared Jim crisply, "and I am glad you have changed your mind now, and not waited until after we were married."

"I knew you would feel that way," she said, relieved, and drawing off the modest diamond she was wearing, she proferred it. "I am sorry, Jim," she said gently.

"What for?" He eyed her truculently, nothing loverlike in his attitude.

"Sorry it has ended this way—"

"That is up to you, Dorothy."

"Here is the ring, Jim, I may never marry," haughtily.

Jim smiled his nicest smile, though his lips were white, and little crinkles came around his blue eyes.

"Never, Dorothy?"

"Never! Men are—im—impossible."

He bowed and picked up his hat.

"Never is a long word," he remarked as he went away.

As the door closed after his erect form, Mrs. Lane came into the room. Dorothy was staring at the door into the hall, as though she could not believe that happiness had passed out of it and so out of her life.

"What is the matter, my dear? Where is Jim?"

"Gone," said Dorothy, with a stiff little smile. "I never want to see him again!"

"Dorothy! Never is a long word."

"So Jim says."

"You are so foolish to quarrel," sighed Mrs. Lane, bending to stir the fire on the hearth. "Has Jim been neglecting you?"

"Mercy, no, mother. I just don't want to marry him—I cannot make up my mind to settle down as a poor man's wife and work in poverty, when all the other girls I know are having fun—and lovely clothes—and everything."

"How many of them would have married the man, they did if they had not loved?"

"Oh, I don't know, mother."

"They all made love matches. Jim is not a poor man. I am afraid the attentions of Lydia Rockwood's cousin, with his fine car and his lavish expenditure of money, have quite turned my little girl's head," said Mrs. Lane, slipping her arm around Dorothy's waist.

"Mother!" she protested warmly, but she did not deny it.

"Samuel Rockwood is nice enough, dear, but he is an exceedingly selfish man and I am afraid his wife would be very unhappy. Perhaps if she loved him very much she might endure him."

"Endure two country houses, a yacht, a place in Florida, any number of motorcars, oceans of clothes!" ejaculated Dorothy.

"Weighed against the great love of a rising young architect," countered her mother dryly. Then she added in a speculative tone: "There may be some truth in what Mrs. Curtis told me this morning. I hardly believed it, and that is why I was anxious about Jim."

"Why—what did Mrs. Curtis say?"

"Nothing much, only that they admired Jim so much, and they were glad that Violet seemed to appreciate him; she insists upon including him in all their invitations. I don't believe they know about your engagement."

"It is broken. But, mother, Violet Curtis has said she would never marry a poor man, and she could marry almost anyone—she is so lovely—" she paused, lost in thought.

"Perhaps she has changed her mind, dear. Anyway, it is all right now for poor Jim. He is free, you say? But he might not change very readily—or forget, for he is so devoted to you, dear child."

"Don't, mother—I sent him away!"

"Not your heart—that did not send him away, but your ambition banished him!"

"He is gone." Dorothy's voice was frightened now, and she clutched her mother's arm.

"It is a relief to you, Dorothy, dear?"

The girl bowed her head and cried softly. "I thought so, but somehow, it seems lonesome without him. I told him to go away—that I never wanted to see him again! Or something like that—perhaps I said I would never marry. I said 'never,' anyway."

"Forever is a better word, Dorothy," said Jim's dear voice from the doorway. "I made up my mind that you couldn't send me away like that, and so I came back, and I am going to stay forever and ever." By that time Mrs. Lane had slipped out of the room, and Jim had drawn Dorothy down to a low seat before the fire. "Dolly, will you be my suburban wife?" he whispered. "Poor and happy as the day is long? Will you?"

"Forever and ever!" declared Dorothy enthusiastically.

GREY LAG HAS BECOME CHAMPION

Grey Lag, Ace of Rancocas Stable, With Jockey Earl Sande Up.

While the gallant Exterminator is browsing in the salt breezes of the peaceful Virginia tidewater, his place in the thoroughbred racing sun has been usurped by Grey Lag, ace of the Rancocas stable.

This five-year-old son of Star Shoot and Miss Minnie, raised at Walter Jeffords' breeding establishment in Maryland, and trained by the astute Sam Hildreth, has become America's greatest handicap horse.

This was the title held by Exterminator until he went lame at Havre de Grace recently and was turned out for the summer. These two great horses may never meet again, but the chances are, that if they do, the more youthful Grey Lag would be more likely to win.

Exterminator is now in his eighth year—an age that a vast majority of racers never reach with their best form. Grey Lag is three years younger and coming on.

Record Proves Claim.

The record of Grey Lag for the last two years proves his claim to the handicap title. In his last 11 races, he was defeated but twice, once by Exterminator on June 16, 1922, and more recently by Snob II, his nearest rival, on May 19, last.

Grey Lag was not quite ready for distance racing when Exterminator beat him at the Aqueduct track. But when they all went to the Saratoga later in the summer, Grey Lag avenged himself impressively by winning a race of a mile and one-quarter in which Exterminator finished last.

The Rancocas star had a comparatively easy time last year because of the dearth of good four-year-olds, but he conducted himself so impressively that his fame could not be disputed.

Avenges Defeat by Snob II.

Grey Lag's defeat by Snob II was the result of this imported racer's having broken the track record for a mile and one-sixteenth at Jamaica in which Grey Lag was forced to yield 17 pounds.

That defeat was incurred May 19 in the renewal of the Long Beach handicap. Grey Lag came back on May 24 and won the Metropolitan handicap at Belmont park over a mile. This time he conceded Snob II 13 pounds. The latter was in one of his tantrums and ran last.

They both came back again in the renewal of the Suburban handicap, which Grey Lag won easily, although he gave Snob II 20 pounds. The latter finished second by a length and a half.

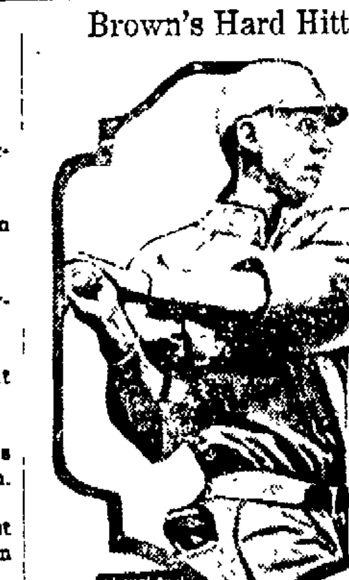
English Locomotives Light.

The largest locomotives in the world are those used on American railways. Some of these have a weight, including tender, of 400 tons, while the heaviest British locomotive weighs, in working order, only 140 tons.

Brown's Hard Hitter



Kenneth Williams, outfielder of the St. Louis Browns, is clouting the ball hard again this year and is one of the leaders in the American league in home run drives.

Manager Patsy Donovan Is in Civilian Clothes

Patsy Donovan, Springfield pilot, is the only Eastern league manager who directs the activities of his club in civilian clothes. Donovan's playing days are past, and he is strictly a bench manager. The other leaders all wear uniforms, but only four of them, Bronkie of Waterbury, Wilson of Pittsfield, Eayrs of Worcester and Rodgers of Albany, are players. Wild Bill Donovan of New Haven, Paddy O'Connor of Hartford and Gene McCann of Bridgeport, appear on the coaching lines and direct the defensive play from the bench.

Shortstop Everett Scott May Equal Minor Record

Everett Scott having passed the record in the major leagues for straight games played in, now is going after the minor record, held by Perry Lipe, veteran of the bushes, who is credited with having played in 1,126 games without missing. Lipe began his record on September 16, 1902, and ended it on August 16, 1911. He might have kept going, but illness in his family kept him away from his club for a period.

Intersectional Contests Frowned on by Coach Yost

Coach Yost, of Michigan, frowns upon intersectional contests. Even games with their natural and closer opponents, says Yost, take students away from classes enough. Yost, after 30 years with college athletics as player and coach, is old-fashioned enough to believe that athletics are but a contributing factor to the main purpose of college work, that of fitting the youth for the business of life.

Wanted More Time for Slumber.

The family was discussing the hours of the day they most enjoyed. Sonny was asked his favorite time and the child answered in this indirect way, "Well, I don't like the mornings, cause they come too early."

CROSSPATCH SEEKS RIP VAN WINKLE

For Its Fourth of July Celebration—Fireworks and Program of Sports Arranged—Crosspatch House Is Being Painted.

Crosspatch Community Center has nearly all the "makings" of a real old time Fourth of July celebration, except that nothing has been seen or heard of Rip Van Winkle this season. A public celebration in the Catskills should always include this quaint old stroller. He's a very uncertain person. Last year he came up to Crosspatch about a week beforehand and promised to be at the celebration. He came and went so quickly that few saw him. Rip reads The Freeman, whenever he can pick up a copy, so it is hoped that he will see here the invitation to be at Crosspatch, the afternoon and evening of July 4th and have a good time. The children are anxiously inquiring for him and he will get a gift that will gladden his tough old heart.

The fireworks have arrived and are carefully stored and the program of sports is about ready.

A novelty this year will be a sparring exhibition by Captain William Rodihan, formerly of New York but now a Crosspatch neighbor, he having bought the Charles Ostrander place. Captain Rodihan is very handy with the gloves and will take on all comers for a friendly bout.

A greased pig seems to go with a country Fourth of July celebration, just as a turkey does with Christmas. So far, Mrs. Cross has been unable to find a small pig. If any one has a nice, little pink six weeks old pig, Crosspatch would like him to telephone the post office at Willow.

The program of sports will begin about 2:30 in the afternoon. There will be a sack race, obstacle race, human chariot and dashes of various lengths to suit the age of the contestants.

Bean bag throwing and a potato race have been suggested for the ladies.

Young people for miles around will motor to Crosspatch for the fireworks and the evening dance. The floor is as smooth as wax can make it and big windows open on all sides, so it is a very cool place to dance.

Crosspatch House is being painted white with dark green trimmings. Mrs. Cross is doing the painting herself, partly for exercise and also because no painter could be found at liberty just now. Mrs. Cross works at the painting job about three hours a day and finds it less tiresome than some other forms of summer diversion such for instance, as entertaining a large number of unexpected week-end guests.

"The 'save-the-surface' campaign of the paint people interested me, so much that I went and bought the paint," says Mrs. Cross, and then I saw that it would do no good standing in the cans, so I borrowed a very fine brush that Captain Cross had among his treasures and donned a pink bungalow apron and a red bandanna turban and went to painting. The apron was one of that unfortunate kind that you wonder why you ever bought it, so, of course, it lasts a long time. Mine is freely speckled with green paint and if I ever finish the job, the apron can be thrown away with a good conscience.'

"Speaking of finishing the job, of course I've been hoping some neighbor or visitor would happen along and do the hard parts up near the peak of the roof—but so far all the men in the neighborhood have stopped to praise my neat work and not one has offered to take a brush in hand." Anyhow Crosspatch will look quite spick and span when its friends gather for a jolly Fourth of July.

Harvey Ostrander has quite a gang of men and teams putting the Crosspatch road in shape. Some of the Greene county neighbors raised the most of the private fund that has been subscribed, although the road is in Ulster county.

Among the guests at Crosspatch last Sunday were Charles Doan and Miss Elizabeth Spencer of New York and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith of Metuchen, N. J.

Miss Edwards's Part.

The Freeman's account of the high school commencement exercises failed to state that Isabelle Edwards enacted the part of "Cooperation" in the symposium on "Aids to Civilization," cooperation being presented as being another of the essentials without which mankind would have progressed but little faster than the beasts of the jungle. Miss Edwards also was awarded the Nellie A. Wood prize in English.

Rivers in the Oceans.

The oceans have their rivers just like the land. The best known of these is the Gulf stream, but the greatest is the "Kuro Siwo," or Black stream, which runs from Japan due east toward the American coast, and so wonderfully modifies the climate that in summer humming birds are found in southern Alaska.

DOG LICENSES BEING ISSUED

City Clerk Doremus has started the issuance of dog licenses, and dog owners may now obtain a license for their pet. The license must be obtained before the last day of July or a penalty of $10 is attached. The police census recently taken showed that 1,125 dogs are owned in Kingston.

K. H. S. COMMENCEMENT DANCE HUGE SUCCESS

The commencement dance of the class of '23, K. H. S., was held in the high school gymnasium Wednesday evening. The place was most artistically decorated with white streamers and green branches, set off by the light of Japanese lanterns. The Imperial sextette furnished the music for the dancing. About a hundred people were present at the dance. Refreshments were served during the evening. From the time the dance began until the closing hour at twelve, every minute was fully enjoyed by the gay steppers. Principal and Mrs. C. W. Lewis were the capable and popular chaperons.

ARMY AIRMEN RENEW ATTEMPT FOR RECORD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Diego, Cal., June 28.—Captain Smith and Lt. Richter made a second start early today at Rockwell army aviation field on their attempt to fly four days and four nights without stop. This had been replaced and hopes were high that success would crown their efforts. During their 100 hours' flight they will be refueled in mid-air from a "feeder" plane.

COLONIALS, 1; PHILLY STARS, 0

Which Was the Score of the Best Baseball Game Played on the Local Grounds so Far This Season—McCue Batting Hero—Forsythe in Danger Only Once—Large Crowd.

That the Colonials have struck their winning stride once more any fan will bear witness to who saw the local aggregation take a 1-0 game from "Chapple" Johnson's Philadelphia All Stars at the Fair Grounds Wednesday evening before one of the largest Wednesday night crowds thus far this season.

Furthermore it was one of the nicest games to watch that has been played on the local diamond this year although the game of last Saturday with the West End Club runs a close second.

The Colonials broke the game up in their half of the eighth and just two men figured in that break up, namely, McCue and Bobby Coyle. Mac had already hit a two bagger in the third inning and as he came up again in the eighth he was determined to get another hit. Mac waited until one came over the plate which suited him and then he landed on it for a three base hit into deep left field which the left fielder had to chase for quite a while. However Mac on third wasn't going to win the ball game so Bobby Coyle decided to do his bit. Bobby sent a low fly to left field and Mac scored on the throw in home, bringing the only run of the game in home.

Rube Forsythe was in the box for the Colonials and if he ever was in form he was on Wednesday. Only once was he in any serious difficulty and that was in the second inning when Ewing, the catcher for the Stars, hit a three bagger with none out. However the next three men went out in quick order and from that time on none of the visitors managed to get beyond second base. The Rube struck two men out and walked one. Furthermore he got his daily hit, it being one out of the four which the Philly pitcher allowed.

Crowder, in the box for the dark complexioned boys, pitched an excellent game. He allowed the Colonials just four hits, two of which were obtained by McCue and one each by Dahn and Rube. In the third inning he was in bad shape when the Colonials managed to get three men on with only one out due to the fact that both Forsythe and McCue had hit and Coyle had been hit by a pitched ball. However a fast double play got him out of that hole. In the fifth inning he got a man on first and third with none out. Another double play and strike out got Crowder out of this hole also. The eighth inning, as was related above, was too much.

Raymond, the left fielder for the visitors, played a highly commendable game and was particularly adept at climbing over the rocks in his territory. Ewing, the catcher, was an exceedingly dangerous man with the stick, he being the gentleman who cracked the three bagger and he also got another hit in the sixth, making two hits out three times at bat.

The Colonials played an errorless game and Matty Deegan, Swat Russell and Bobby Coyle were right there with the sensational plays.

A game worth winning.

FAVOR NAVY FOR TONIGHT'S RACE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28.—"Are you ready all? Are you ready all?

A pause, the referee's megaphoned shout "Go" and six crack college crews will be sent careening down the glistening waters of the beautiful Hudson this afternoon in what promises to be one of the most thrilling races in the history of American inter-collegiate rowing. They are the varsity eights of Navy, Washington, Syracuse, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Cornell.

Thousands of persons—50,000 at least, it is predicted, will witness the struggle. Special trains, steamers, private yachts and automobiles were bringing great numbers of visitors into sleepy, apathetic Poughkeepsie this morning.

In a boat race, the experts say, although Navy is a slight favorite in early betting, even Willie the wharf rat, who has been picking winners here for 15 years, admits it will be close but "most likely Navy."

For once, there is no outstanding eight in this "invitation event"—the twenty-sixth annual intercollegiate regatta, as it is called. In the 25 previous years Cornell has been the potentate of the river, having won 14 times; Syracuse was victorious on five occasions, Pennsylvania three times, Navy twice and Columbia once.

The race will start at six o'clock. The distance is three miles, the record for which is held by Navy, last year's winner—13:33 2-5.

Experts this morning gave this "last minute" size up:

Washington—The runner up, if there is such a thing in this race. Has the recent illness of Dow Walling, their famous oar, broken their morale?

Syracuse — The "dark horse." Coached by the grand old veteran, Jim Ten Eyck, who knows every pocket and eddy on the course.

Pennsylvania—Has everything except weight. Averages about 168 pounds—ten pounds under the average crews of its opponents.

Columbia—Reported to be "holding out" and may spring a surprise.

Cornell — Once mighty prestige gone, but always dangerous.

"Fair and cooler" was the official weather prediction for today, although this morning the clouds hung low and there was an indication that it might rain.

Here are the boatings of the varsity crews:

Navy—Bow, Shieke; 2, Bell; 3, King; 4, Chillingworth; 5, Zuber; 6, Shanklin; 7, Walsh; stroke, Bolles; coxswain, Gwinn.

Cornell—Bow, Hoffman; 2, Fox; 3, Strong; 4, Calleson; 5, Frider; 6, Garnsey; 7, Parcell; stroke, Baker; coxswain, Paret.

Columbia—Bow, Ferris; 2, Brown; 3, Nelson; 4, Cooper; 5, Mound; 6, Ince; 7, Tilhonen; stroke, Brodil; coxswain, Marshall.

Syracuse—Bow, Wise; 2, McKee; 3, Waldorf; 4, Engren; 5, Pfiefer; 6, Holcomb; 7, Brown; stroke, Howard; coxswain, Manz.

Washington—Bow, Tidmarsh; 2, Luft; 3, Dunn; 4, France; 5, Spuhn; 6, Shaw; 7, Dutton; stroke, Walling; Coxswain, Grant.

Pennsylvania—Bow, Beach; 2, Haws; 3, Rugh; 4, Jellnick; 5, Borie; 6, Goetz; 7, Chesney; stroke, Doyle; coxswain, Chase.
